There are a number of equations known as the Riccati differential equation. The most common is  $z^2 w'' + [z^2 - n(n+1)]w = 0$  (1) (Abramowitz and Stegun 1972, p. 445; Zwillinger 1997, p. 126), which has solutions  $w = Az_j(z) + Bz_y(z)$ , (2) where  $j_n(z)$  and  $y_n(z)$  are spherical Bessel functions of the first and second kinds. Another Riccati differential equation is  $(dy)/(dz) = az^n + by^2$ , (3) which is ...

Laplace's equation can be solved by separation of variables in all 11 coordinate systems that the Helmholtz differential equation can. The form these solutions take is summarized in the table above. In addition to these 11 coordinate systems, separation can be achieved in two additional coordinate systems by introducing a multiplicative factor.

In mathematics, a system of equations is considered overdetermined if there are more equations than unknowns. [citation needed] An overdetermined system is almost always inconsistent (it has no solution) when constructed with random coefficients. However, an overdetermined system will have solutions in some cases, for example if some equation occurs several times in the system, or if some ...

In mathematics, a system of linear equations (or linear system) is a collection of two or more linear equations involving the same set of variables. For example,  $+ - = - + = - - + - =$  is a system of three equations in the three variables  $x, y, z$ . A solution to a linear system is an assignment of values to the variables such that all the equations are simultaneously satisfied.
