Hello araucationaddict, Being that the 969214010 motor is a universal motor. Any repair shop would test the 4460008 armature assembly or the 4500008 field assembly to see if they were burnt or shorted, and then they would replace them, just as you could do. If the prices on those parts are a little expensive for you. You could have them rewound, usually at a lower price.
